Permit for Work in Navigable Waters (Section 10 Permit)

What Activities Require This Permit? "Construction of any structure in, over or under any navigable water of the United States. Structures or work outside the limits defined for navigable waters of the United States requires a Section 10 Permit if the structure or work affects the course, location or condition of the water body. The law applies to any dredging or disposal of dredged materials, excavation, filling, re-channelization, or any other modification of a navigable water of the United States and applies to all structures, from the smallest floating dock to the largest commercial undertaking. It further includes, without limitation, any wharf, dolphin, weir, boom breakwater, jetty, groin, bank protection (e.g. riprap, revetment, bulkhead), mooring structures such as pilings, aerial or sub-aqueous power transmission lines, intake or outfall pipes, permanently moored floating vessel, tunnel, artificial canal, boat ramp, aids to navigation, and any other permanent, semi-permanent obstacles or obstruction."

What Is The Purpose of This Permit? To prohibit any unauthorized obstruction or alteration to the navigable capacity of any waters of the United States.

Who Issues This Permit? The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Regulatory Division reviews applications for Section 10 Permits. Visit the following link for field office locations and contact information:
