

North Carolina Registered Television Manufacturers

The North Carolina Electronics law (§ 130A 309.135) states that a manufacturer of televisions must register and pay a fee to be in compliance. Additionally, manufacturers must annually recycle or arrange for recycling of their market share of televisions. Consequences of non-compliance are that retailers in the State may not sell products from manufacturers who have not registered and are out of compliance and local governments may not buy products from, or enter into contracts with, manufacturers who are presently out of compliance. Questions regarding a manufacturer's compliance status should be sent to: electronic\_recycling@ncdenr.gov
